Shared with neighbouring Costa Rica and recognized in 1982 as a World Biosphere Reserve and UNESCO World Heritage Site, LA AMISTAD is located on the Central American natural land bridge. This area benefits from species overlap and, with great ranges in altitude, precipitation, soil and temperature, bio-diversity here is at its best. Morning spent hiking and exploring La Amistad in the area of El Retoño in search of the Resplendent Quetzal, Silvery-fronted Tapaculo, Andean Pygmy-Owl, Barred Becard, Black and Yellow Silky Flycatcher among many other western highland birds. After lunch at a local restaurant visit the archaeological site of Sitio Barriles. O/n HOTEL BAMBITO, FB.

Day 07

Early morning transfer to the airport and catch domestic flight to ACHUTUPO on the San Blas archipelago. To enhance the interaction with the Kuna, travellers will go without the Naturalist Guide. The archipelago is made up of nearly 400 tiny islands scattered along the Caribbean coast of Eastern Panama. As part of the Comarca de Kuna Yala, the area is ruled by the fiercely independent Kuna Indians who inhabit only 40 of the islands. Met on arrival and transfer by boat to Uaguitupo Island. Morning to settle in before departing on an excursion to a nearby Kuna village to learn about the culture of this colourful, vibrant tribe. Visit the communal house of “Sahilas” (Kuna chiefs) where the chiefs are responsible for enforcing the law of the community as well as offering advice on other aspects of life - including marital problems! Learn about the building of the typical Kuna house, their economy, the traditional “mola”, and the processing of sugar cane into the alcoholic drink known as “chicha”. Return to the lodge to relax at one of the hammocks and to have lunch. Later this afternoon snorkel in the crystal clear waters of the Caribbean Sea to look for stunning marine life.

O/n UAGUINEGA LODGE, FB. This small, simple island lodge is run by the Kuna and consists of a small number of rustic wooden huts with private bathrooms and balconies overlooking the water, and a small restaurant serving traditional seafood dishes. A number of perfectly positioned hammocks provide the perfect setting for a lazy afternoon.

Day 08

After breakfast, transfer to the airport and catch flight to Panama City. Met on arrival by the Naturalist Guide and transfer to EL COROTU on the shores of Madden Lake. The main reservoir of drinking water for the cities of Panama and Colon, Madden Lake also supplies 40% of the water required for the operation of the Panama Canal. Here, board a motorized piragua (dugout canoe) and travel up the Chagres River to the Embera indigenous village of EMBERA DRUA. The boat journey takes us through the rainforest of the 320,000-acre CHAGRES NATIONAL PARK, which is the largest of the National Parks protecting the Panama Canal Watershed. (Cont.../)

Along the Chagres River, we may be able to spot Little Blue and Green Heron, Great Egret, Anhingas, Neotropical Cormorant, Amazon, Ringed, and Green Kingfishers, along with Keel-billed Toucans and Ospreys flying above.

At the Embera village there will be dancing and music. Time to learn about Embera customs still practised by the Embera and their relationship with nature. There will be handcrafts available for sale and a chance to be painted with the traditional jagua, a natural dye the Embera use to adorn their bodies. After a picnic lunch, head back to Panama City. O/n

HOTEL EL PANAMA, FB. Centrally located, the hotel offers accommodation in comfortable rooms with private bathroom, cable tv and safety deposit box. There is a conference centre, as well as a selection of bars and restaurants.

Day 09 Morning pick up from the hotel and drive to GAMBOA. Board a boat and begin the journey heading south on Gatun Lake. At this point, the ship will be sailing at 26 metres above sea level. Shortly after departure, the ship will enter Gaillard Cut, the narrowest section of the Panama Canal. The 13.7 kilometer long portion of the Continental Divide was carved through rock and shale at the beginning of the last century when the canal began operating (1914).

The ship will reach Pedro Miguel Locks, where the vessel will be lowered 9.4 meters into Miraflores Lake. After travelling nearly 2 Kilometers, arrive at Miraflores Locks, where the transition from fresh water to salt water takes place in the locks chambers. Due to the Pacific Ocean's extreme tidal variations, Miraflores locks meter gates are the tallest of the locks system. In two steps, the vessel will be lowered 16.6 meters onto the Pacific Ocean. Sail under the bridge of the Americas, which reunites the land divided by the Panama Canal as part of the pan American highway. The Amador Marina will be your final destination, where you will disembark and return to the hotel. Tonight, enjoy a farewell dinner at a local restaurant. O/n HOTEL EL PANAMA, FB.

Day 10 Morning at leisure. Later, pick up at the lobby of the hotel and transfer to Tocumen International Airport. Depart PANAMA and connect in AMSTERDAM.
